

Side 4 - Green and Wadsworth

GREEN

Excuse me, I suppose this letter has me rather anxious.

WADSWORTH

You must be Mr. Green.

GREEN

(painfully lying)

Yes, that's exactly who I am.

WADSWORTH

Welcome, Sir.

GREEN

(Noticing the interior)

Whoa, This isn't at all what I expected.

WADSWORTH

I find if you expect nothing, you're never disappointed.

GREEN

(not to be misunderstood)

Oh, I'm not disappointed.

(next from a separate scene)

WADSWORTH

And lastly, Mr. Green, who is a...

GREEN

I don't need you to unmask me, Wadsworth. I know what you're gonna say about me!

WADSWORTH

What's that?

GREEN

"Mr. Green, who is a homosexual!"

.....WADSWORTH

But there's more to it than that, Mr. Green.

GREEN

How do you mean?

WADSWORTH

There's evidence to support the question of...your politics.

GREEN

My politics!! Since when is working for the Republican party a crime?
